Madeleine Jostedt Ulrici, b. 1984, grew up in Stockholm and in Värmland. Her mother is Swedish, her father is Tunisian. At age 14, summer school at Mountview in London became pivotal for Madeleine's creative journey as she decided to commit to the stage wholeheartedly after completing her International Baccalaureate. She then embarked on a foundation year in acting at the University of Central Lancashire, followed by the BA (Hons) Acting programme at Royal Central School of Speech and Drama in London 2004-2007. Her prolific soprano however soon led her into opera, where after a total of five years and a Bachelor degree with honours at the Academy of Theatre and Music in Gothenburg 2008-2013, she spent 12 years interpreting French, Italian and Russian repertoire, from Baroque to verismo. Madeleine returns to the screen in the 2024 Fenar Ahmad series Paradise City, in the supporting role of criminal gang leader Najla Al-Alwani.
